The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5,10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 5,10, "LiNiO₂ type" is indefinite as it extends the scope of LiNiO₂. See MPEP 2173.05(b)E:

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mitate '488.

Mitate teaches the instantly claimed process but may differ in that it does not specifically state that upon heating the body of crystal compounds water is removed from the crystals and to form a liquid mixture containing water and a uniform distribution of metal elements. See cols. 6, 10, 12, 38, 39, 43, 45, 46. Removal of water is suggested by the taught dehydration by preliminary calcination. See col.12. Also, see examples 201, 202-205, 211, 212, 213-216 for cobalt nitrate hexahydrate and aluminum nitrate enneahydrate ($\text{Al}(\text{NO}_3)_3 \cdot 9\text{H}_2\text{O}$).

Mitate suggests the above difference by teaching that lithium nitrate trihydrate and nickel nitrate hexahydrate are mixed and heated to form a homogeneous mixture. See cols. 10,11. This suggests the original mixture of lithium nitrate trihydrate and nickel nitrate hexahydrate was solid and then heated to dissociate the water which would then participate in forming the melt.
